

BONNITA BOONE

Bonnita Boone is the Executive Vice President and Partner at J.P. West Inc., a New York-based brokerage specialising in insurance for municipalities, commercial companies, and nonprofits. With extensive experience in the insurance sector, she previously served as Executive Vice President of Healthcare at Arthur J. Gallagher & Co., and has held senior positions at Marsh LLC, Alliant Insurance Services Inc., and Willis Towers Watson PLC. At J.P. West, Ms. Boone's role involves expanding the company's client base and refining its strategic direction.

A passionate advocate for diversity and inclusion, Ms. Boone has received numerous accolades for her leadership. In 2008, she was named one of Business Insurance's "Women to Watch," and in 2015, was honoured with an Impact Award for her exceptional contributions to diversity in insurance. In 2021, the National Diversity Council recognised her as one of the 100 most influential African American leaders in business.

In addition to her professional achievements, Ms. Boone is an ISC Ambassador, where she continues to champion diversity and inclusion within the insurance industry.